Candice Paolini The funeral for the woman who died in a fire at a West Reading apartment complex is scheduled for 10 a.m. Sunday. Candice "Annie" Paolini, 39, died in the fire that was reported at 10:35 p.m. Saturday, West Reading police said. The cause of death was not released. A West Reading Police officer said Paolini lived at the apartment building at 175 Cook Ave., but police were not able to locate her by late Saturday. According to the officer, police had to break into the apartment, where they found Paolini on a bed, dead, surrounded by smoke and fire. The officer said that Paolini had been moved from her bed by firemen. The fire was reported in a fourth-floor apartment in the building, according to West Reading police. Two other residents had minor injuries and were transported to a nearby hospital. West Reading police, fire and emergency medical services responded to the fire. Police said that a woman who is a resident of the building reported that a dog had been locked inside the apartment. The dog was found safely. Police said the dog was not injured.
