Fifa 22 (Final 2022)

Sturridge is honest on his injury, but is hopeful for a swift recovery Read more Players can now receive a new “combo feeling” when they score in “a dizzying number of ways,” and the best passes feel even more dynamic. Players’ visual likeness is improved, as is their responsiveness. They can now execute “one of the most powerful and graceful sprints ever seen in football.” Sturridge is sidelined with a hamstring injury but is happy for the opportunity to play with the “world’s best players” and believes he will have more chances to show off his talents with Liverpool. The injury has hit Sturridge hard – particularly given his recent form. However, he has found a silver lining in the form of his young teammates. Last season’s Players’ Player of the Year (Xherdan Shaqiri) and vice-captain (Joe Gomez) are both 27 and “are looking to prove they are still in form after years of hard work.” Liverpool have also been selected to play at the prestigious International Champions Cup in the US, and Sturridge is confident he can use the tournament to work his way back into a team that is highly expected to qualify for next season’s Champions League. Sturridge is currently being guarded by physio Nigel Steele and has been told to stay off the training pitch. He is taking on a number of non-contact sessions as he continues to recover but will be fit to start Liverpool’s home game against Tottenham on 15 September. Sturridge missed the whole of last season with knee problems. He had surgery last March and his rehabilitation was initially slow. He spent the final three months of the previous campaign at Melwood with the academy and rehab teams in full training. He returned to Melwood for a week before joining up with Liverpool’s first team for pre-season training in New York this month. He picked up the injury on international duty against Spain, in an attacking training drill where players were chasing the ball at high speed. “It’s unfortunate to get injured when we’re enjoying a little bit of time off in America,” Sturridge said. “I’m not sure if it’s a good or bad injury. It felt like I could have caught my thigh on the tunnel in the middle.
